

VALLEY PREFERRED
SPIRIT OF COURAGE

AWARD CELEBRATION

Tuesday, Oct. 1, 2019 • 5 p.m.
Lehigh Valley Hospital–Muhlenberg
Bethlehem, Pa.

JUST ANNOUNCED

Gregory Allen Stube
Special Forces Warrior and Author

Greg will share his inspirational story of adversity, courage and resilience. His powerful words will lead off the presentation of awards to heroes who have risked their lives to save others from a fire, people who have dedicated their lives to fire and burn prevention, and a burn survivor who has risen from the ashes to create a new life.

Greg Stube served as part of an elite team of Green Berets stationed in hostile fire zones during the war in Afghanistan. As a special forces medical sergeant, Greg was trained and certified in many areas, including:

- Surgery, anesthesia, trauma management, pharmacology, dentistry
- Dive medical technician with Special Forces Underwater Operations
- Survival, evasion, resistance and escape
- Master parachutist and jumpmaster
- Russian defense language

Greg was severely wounded in Afghanistan when his A-Team encountered overwhelming numbers of Taliban fighters in the battle of Sperwan Ghar. He suffered serious burns and wounds to his abdomen, hip and pelvis, and his leg was nearly severed from a remotely detonated IED and enemy fire. On the path to a miracle recovery, Greg endured 17 surgeries and an 18-month hospital stay. He retired in 2011 after 23 years of dedicated service.

After returning home, Greg hosted a television show on NBC Sports titled “Coming Home with Greg Stube.” His inspiring story of strength and perseverance is told in his recent book, “Conquer Anything.” Greg is a sought-after speaker and consultant with the FBI and the FBI National Academy, and other organizations.

For reservations and sponsorship information, call 610-969-3930 or visit burnprevention.org.

BENEFITING

REGIONAL BURN CENTER

A program of the Burn Prevention Network